The restaurant from Jamaica offers 95 different courses and drinks on the menu at an average price of $10.3. A longstanding favorite among loyal customers, this restaurant has recently faced some challenges, including price increases and smaller portions. While the bread and pastries remain tasty, concerns have been raised about hygiene practices, with one reviewer noting questionable food handling practices by staff. Inconsistent pricing and attitudes from certain employees have also been mentioned by patrons. Despite these issues, the restaurant offers some standout dishes, such as the flavorful chicken patties and comforting home-cooked Guyanese favorites. Customers have praised the fair prices, friendly service, and delicious catering options provided by the establishment, making it a go-to spot for Western Indian cuisine. Amidst the mixed reviews, the restaurant's dedication to fresh, tasty food and helpful recommendations from the owner shines through, making it a reliable choice for those craving traditional Guyanese fare.
