While the restaurant has been hailed for standout dishes like rotisserie chicken and delectable smoked salmon, recent visits highlight concerns over declining food quality and portion sizes, particularly with the once-beloved tuna burger. Despite these fluctuations, many guests continue to enjoy the well-crafted entrees and warm hospitality. The stylish décor, combined with a cozy ambiance, makes it a prime option for date nights and celebrations. However, some diners express disappointment over changes that affect group reservations and menu selections. Overall, Gulf Stream remains a popular choice for its dedicated service and varied menu offerings.
