The restaurant from Santa Cruz offers 20 different dishes and drinks on the card at an average price of $8.3.

Togo's has garnered mixed reviews, reflecting a stark contrast in customer experiences. While some patrons reminisce about past visits that yielded delightful sandwiches, others express disillusionment over inadequate portions and disappointing service. Complaints include dry sandwiches lacking requested condiments and rude staff interactions. However, there are also positive reports highlighting friendly service and satisfaction with the food quality. This divergence suggests a need for consistency, as customers hope for a return to the high standards that once made Togo's a beloved choice for sandwich lovers. Ultimately, diners are eager to see improvements.
